Collapse Of Geneva Arms Conclave Seen In Failure Of Powers To Limit Navy

By WILLIAM F. FLYTHE
(City Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, July 6. The Geneva Arms Conference has collapsed and failed of its purpose, it was learned here today.

There will be no limitation on the armaments of the cruiser type of warships, as suggested by President Coolidge in issuing his invitation for the meeting of the five powers, which was accepted by three of them, it was stated.

In the meantime, everything possible is being done to reveal the attitude of the conference and to secure agreement on the smaller and least important ships which would make it possible that the negotiations between Great Britain and Japan and the United States have been successful.

But even such a contemplated agreement will not be approved by Congress. This was clearly indicated in a cablegram sent today by Representative Stephen G. Porter, Republican, Pennsylvania, to Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, naval expert on the American delegation.

It was prompted by Admiral Jones' Fourth of July speech in Congress. This was clearly indicated in a cablegram sent today by Representative Stephen G. Porter, Republican, Pennsylvania, to Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, naval expert on the American delegation.

Royal Neighbors To Take Part In Rites For Mrs. Johnson

Officers of the Royal Neighbors of America will take part in funeral rites for Neighbor Stella Johnson, and the entire organization is urged to attend the funeral by Grace Nina Vickery. The services will take place at 10 o'clock this morning at the Wilson and Kratzer undertaking parlors. Members who intend to be present at the ceremony are asked to meet at Memorial hall at 9:30 o'clock and to dress in white.

Other members met last night at the home of Mrs. M. R. Terry at 181 Eighth street, and from there proceeded to the parlors to pay last respects to the deceased.

Vacation School At Stege To Be Closed

Charging exercises of the Stege vacation school take place this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Stege Presbyterian church. Songs, memory selections, and an exhibition of craft work will be put on by the children. It is expected that a crowd of parents and friends of the children will be on hand to see the exercises.

Local Kiwanians Given Report On International

District Trustee Hall W. Sanders, delegate of the Richmond Kiwanis club to the Kiwanis International at Memphis, Tennessee, during June, made a full report to the local Kiwanians at their meeting in Hotel Carquinez yesterday noon. Over 150 members from California were in attendance. Sanders said, He acted as chairman of the day. Bert Scobie gave several vocal numbers which met with hearty applause.

Plans to furnish transportation for the Girl Scouts to and from their summer vacation grounds at Lagunitas are being made by the Richmond Kiwanis club.

NEIGHBOR AND FANATIC HELD FOR GRILLING

Police Up Against Blank Wall In Probing Clues To Gruesome Crime

Late yesterday afternoon, when the district attorney's office, took into custody a neighbor of Mabel Mayer's family. He is said to be the owner of the dog which several persons heard creating an unusual disturbance at the time and scene of the murder. Moreover, according to the sheriff's office, clothing found in the man's home was stained, and these stains are to be analyzed to determine whether or not they are blood.

Sadist Type
Most significant of all is that the man is said by the authorities to be a psychopath of the type likely to be found responsible for the murder of the child.

The man, who refuses to talk, according to deputies, was being held incommunicado early last night in the Alameda county jail. In the meantime deputies left the jail to bring the man's wife in for questioning.

The funeral of murdered Mabel Mayer yesterday afternoon brought a startling "break" into the mystery which had brought East Bay police to their end.

Gruesome Facts Disclosed
Throwing the funeral crowd into a state of excitement, a tall, powerful woman, who is said to be a psychopath of the type likely to be found responsible for the murder of the child, was being held incommunicado early last night in the Alameda county jail. In the meantime deputies left the jail to bring the man's wife in for questioning.

Knights Of Pythias To Attend Picnic At Santa Rosa

Arrangements for the Knights of Pythias and their families to attend a picnic at the Pythian home near Santa Rosa July 17 are completed. It was announced last night when the local Knights of Pythias, No. 12, met in Pythian Castle.

D. S. Delaney reported that a good attendance was had when the convocation of the sixth unit of the Pythian home near Santa Rosa was held, July 4. Grand lodge officers officiated at this event. The band of the Pythian lodge of Burlingame provided music during the ceremony.

District Deputy Grand Chancellor Harold All of Hercules will pay the Richmond lodge an official visit next Wednesday evening and outline his plans for the next month. He will also announce the place where the next county convention will be held.

Scout troop 4, which is sponsored by the local Knights of Pythias, returned from Camp Diablo with four camp honors. It was announced last night by Scoutmaster R. F. Cox. The troop was best in camp inspection, took highest best honors (merit badges and tests), had the best campfire, and put on the best camp stunt during the last week. Included in the stunt was a toe dancing act by Donald Phillips, imitation of a menagerie by Charles Russell, and several comic songs.

CAPTAIN'S COMMISSION GIVEN FRANK SCHUMANN

Formerly a Richmond newspaper man, Frank B. Schumann, 340 Third street, has been given a commission as captain in the 143d field artillery of the National Guard, at Oakland, Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt announced yesterday. Schumann was formerly a first lieutenant.

Grand Jury To Fix Blame In Dynamite Case

Inyo County Calls For Session Of Jury On July 12

Justice of the Peace C. P. Watson, Inyo county judge and farmer of Inyo county for transporting explosives over Contra Costa county highways for illegal purposes on a warrant issued by District Attorney A. H. Cuning several days ago, as a result of the war that had raged for several years between the City of Los Angeles and the people of Inyo county, had the grand jury convened when the district attorney of Inyo county today convened the grand jury of the county convened for the purpose of determining responsibility for recent dynamiting of the Los Angeles aqueduct.

Owens valley took the legal offensive yesterday for the first time in its twenty years water war with Los Angeles city using Inyo county's Grand Jury for the spear thrust.

To Meet July 12

A special session of the Inyo county grand jury has been called for July 12 to determine responsibility for recent dynamiting of the city's aqueduct, vital artery of water supply to the metropolitan area of Southern California.

Justice Hession, district attorney of Inyo county, in announcing the calling of the session, said he would bring before it every official of the Bureau of Power and Light of Los Angeles, which has jurisdiction over the water supply. These will be asked for information gained through an independent investigation of the aqueduct blast which they announced had been obtained in sufficient amount to warrant action.

Boyer, probation officer officiated.

Shotgun Used To Squelch Fourth

CHICAGO, July 6.—Severely cut and bruised from the beating he suffered at the hands of irate neighbors, Joseph Melandio, was in jail today. He was beaten after he had fired a shotgun into a group of young people, who were exploding fire crackers near his house. When the police came and the man was pointed out, the mob assisted the authorities in punishing him. He suffered a broken jaw. Four children were wounded by the shotgun fire.

PLANE IN FETE TO ARMY AGES DIVES INTO SEA

Farewell Maneuvers For Mailand Ended In Fatal Plunge

By JOHN J. STONE
(City Universal Service)

(Special Cable Dispatch)
HONOLULU, July 6. As his famous brothers of the air, Lieutenant Lester Mailand and Albert Hoge-better, watched his evolutions in the air, Lieutenant Charles L. Williams plunged into the ocean today off Waikiki beach, and is believed to have been drowned.

While the Steamer Maui, carrying the aviators to the United States, steamed out of Honolulu harbor, six escort planes, participating in farewell maneuvers in honor of the fliers who successfully spanned the Pacific in a non-stop flight, zoomed about the ship. The planes, high in the heavens, pointed for the stern of the ship and then came almost straight down in terrific plunges and then turned back into the sky. When the last plane piloted by Lieutenant Williams made its dive it failed to zoom and plunged into the ocean. A life boat was immediately lowered from the Maui but no trace of the missing aviator or his plane could be found.

Lieutenant Williams was a member of the Nineteenth Pursuit Squadron and was stationed at Wheeler field. He was a native of Arizona and graduated from West Point military academy in 1918.

About a year ago, Lieutenant Williams, while flying over Ewa plantation, collided with a plane piloted by Lieutenant Harry Wisheart. He leaped to safety in a parachute.

Water and aircraft are searching the waters where the accident occurred in an effort to recover the officer's body.

DIPLOMACY

Other governments are "unable," so they say, to accept American terms restricting competition in the building of war vessels.

National dignity, or something, seems to be at stake.

Direct statements and veiled hints of what will and what won't be done trickle out of the disarmament conference at Geneva.

Such goings-on are called "diplomacy."

Unless diplomacy is packed away in mothballs something is likely to happen.

That "something" will be a keen, fierce scramble among big nations to see which can build the greatest number of cruisers, destroyers and submarines in the shortest possible time.

Citizens of every country abroad are already powed under the heavy weight of taxes. They seem scarcely able to carry on as it is.

More warships would mean more taxes.

People would be still less able to pay.

Rather than let that happen it would be wise for the diplomats to stop spending money for war preparations.

The world needs less diplomacy and more open friendship.

With a six hundred million surplus in sight for the end of the fiscal year June 30, Uncle Sam is so well off he could even afford to buy a few things on the installment plan if he wanted to.

A lot of our so-called American liberals will never enthusiastically approve any American foreign policy, unless it is made in Europe.

That nickname Lindy must have been a God-send to those song writers who were having a hard time to find enough words to rhyme with Lindbergh.

America might be interested enough to guard against future Mississippi floods if the river were in Armenia or somewhere like that. — San Francisco Chronicle.

Now that Lindbergh and Chamberlain have covered themselves with fame and glory we are wondering what young woman is going to become the Gertrude Ederle of the air.

What it's all about

By PAUL ALLEN

MANY PEOPLE IN RURAL

England were badly frightened by the eclipse last week. This shows that it is not only the ignorant who are superstitious. An eclipse is a purely mechanical thing. A shadow of the moon casts on the earth. It has just as much effect on the sun as it has on the moon.

IN CHINA, AN ECLIPSE IS supposed to be caused by the slaying of the sun down the throat of a hungry dragon of the skies. Panic came to a section of the Russian army in 1914, during the World War, because an eclipse came along and the soldiers thought it meant defeat for them. In a world that continues to believe such nonsense, it is no wonder that we still have war.

PEOPLE OF FORTHER TIMES were just as much excited about the visitation of comets as they were over eclipses. The comet of 1456 created a tremendous panic all over Europe. Devout but thoroughly this prayer: "Lord, save us from the devil, the Turk and the comet." Disasters were expected, but none came. Affairs on earth muddled along in much the same way regardless of comets, eclipses and other phenomena of the sky.

SILLY PEOPLE RIGHT IN THE U. S. A. still cling to belief in such ancient nonsense as astrology. That is because they want an explanation of why things happen and try to get a glimpse into the future. Best thing is to forget it. The world has marched forward since astrology was born in the brains of men who thought the earth was flat and the sky was a curtain through which light came from heaven, shining from holes known as stars.

CHINA HAS APPARENTLY become so extremely modern in certain sections that men are forced to

ITS VILLYAD. A man in a top hat and a woman in a long dress are walking down a street. The man is looking at the woman with a look of admiration.

THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD is trying to fight off the invasion of women. "They are such beastly grinds," one student complains, "that the standard of studies is going too high." It's a shame, of course, to make boys study when they're all set for four years of loafing.

WOMEN PREDOMINATE IN sections of Europe because of the slaughter of men in the World War. If men are anxious to give complete control to the feminine contingent, all they'll have to do is fight a few more wars.

Now that Lindbergh and Chamberlain have covered themselves with fame and glory we are wondering what young woman is going to become the Gertrude Ederle of the air.

How To EARN MONEY at HOME

By Sara Spence

Get busy! If you need money,

I am not allowed to reply privately, so please don't send me self-addressed envelopes. And the very next day I answered. But I was obliged to condense your letter. All letters are answered. I told you that the mimeographers are looking for people to address envelopes for them right now. I am sorry you did not see it.

Please tell me where to get envelopes to address.

Publishers, mimeographers, personal campaign concerns and big advertising houses all have them. The requisites are speed, accuracy and a beautiful handwriting. You can't do it without all these.

I want to be a public stenographer in a big building. How shall I go about it?

Go to the agent of the building and tell him what you want to do. Hire a small office. Letter your name and business on the door. Distribute your cards far and wide. Sit down and wait for business. You can do practically the same thing in your home. I think

I wrote you and sent a self-addressed envelope but got no reply. I looked every day.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

BY LADY BEATRICE GREY

Summer time brings the problem of the hot weather food beverage. The heat of America and an insult to the poor stomach!

Many cases of indigestion, frozen intestines and internal disorders break out during the hot weather and are directly traced to the overindulgence in food drinks.

No matter how tempting a glass of lemonade jammed full of cracked ice, leave it alone. Drink lemonade by all means, but cool the water by contact with the ice, not letting the ice melt in the water. Cool it gradually by day, let a bottle of the liquid or ice, like the Europeans do their wine.

Now, as a matter of fact, an ice cold drink will actually make you hotter than a medium cold drink, slightly acid with very little sugar. Lime juice makes a splendid hot weather drink and does not need to be iced to be delicious and thirst-quenching.

In hot weather keep a large bottle of water standing beside the ice, and as it is used fill it

One day I received a telegram saying that about five of my relatives would pay me a visit. That afternoon they arrived and after serving them I got so nervous I went to take the butter down in the cellar, but instead went into the living room and put it in the writing desk.

MRS. CARREY GANNON, ANSWERS

About The Rainbow. We all know the Scythian interpretation of the rainbow, but mythology has also had its say upon the same theme. The Scandinavians thought it was a celestial bridge, by which the gods passed down to earth. It was a golden bridge, by which the gods passed down to earth. It was a golden bridge, by which the gods passed down to earth.

Among the new accessories there come matched sets of printed silk, consisting of hat, scarf, bag and parasol. Slippers of printed silk are also noted among the novelties.

The Smartest Thing My Dog Ever Did

THE SMARTEST THING MY DOG ever did was the evidence of the affection of a dog toward a large brood of chickens on our farm in New Jersey. The old hen had suddenly died, leaving the brood without any means of subsistence or shelter. At the tender of the brood, they were wandering about the barnyard in search of food, they came upon our dog that was in the habit of sleeping near the brood in the daytime, and by one they nestled around him and by the warmth of his body were kept alive. The guardian continued to manifest the utmost care for his charge, scratching the gravel and sand for them, watching them sleeping with them in their roost at night.

Mrs. Van Elen

Of course, your dog does smart things. Tell the "Dog Editor."

CUTEST THING BABY EVER SAID

My little son, Jimmy, 4 years old, had been watching me washing the windows, and he warned me many times to be very careful and not fall down into the yard. Finally, I said to him, "Jimmy, what would you do if mother fell out of the window?"

"I would throw you down your pocketbook," he said.

"What for, Jimmy?" I asked.

"So you could buy yourself a pocketbook and come up with a reply."

MRS. LILLIAN MARCH

What was the cutest thing your baby said? Send it to the "Baby Editor."

Suggestions That Add to Campers' Joy and Comfort!

Mrs. Hall-Deane:—My husband has bought a second-hand car and he and I have determined to go camping this summer. I had on a trip with my sister and her husband last year and enjoyed it all, except the ants, which persisted in getting into the food.

"We have bought an inexpensive outfit and expect to have a good time. We have no particular objection to the ants, but would like you to give us some general hints about the most advantageous spots for pitching a tent. I cannot tell you how grateful I will be. My husband and I are both readers of your column."

"MRS. DORLA H."

If you are planning going to strange woods it would be best to decide upon the locality before dark so that little trips of exploration could be made. Always you will find friendly people who will give you an idea of the country round about, if they are approached in a kindly, gentle spirit. The reason why so many tenting tourists experience trouble is that in many cases, so many parties act as if they are doing the community a favor by camping there, whereas they might be regarded as intruders. Besides a little exploration will help you to find your way around later.

Old army blankets and outing flannel underclothing are advisable. One must be sure to dress comfortably if traveling in cold territory. Avoid pitching the tent beside a brook or on sandy ground. Any place that is entirely in the sun or in the shade is not considered ideal. A night storm may cause the brook to wash out, while tent pegs often give way when buried in the sand. A brisk wind fills the food, as well as the bed clothing, with sand. Gently sloping ground, half shaded, near a brook or lake, makes the best camp site. Dig a ditch three or four inches around the tent to lead off rainwater, if you plan staying in one spot for several days. Camps but from $3 to $5, and these are times by us—telling tale and chairs, and they are kept away from food supplies through the use of wooden legs on your tent and each set into a little earthenware quantities, sprinkled around drives ants away.

Another very important rule about camp sleeping is to have at least as much bed clothing under you as you have over you. Violation of this simple rule has caused a lot of cold, sleepless, uncomfortable nights and caused members of camping parties to vow that they would never attempt such a thing again.

When going through cities and towns gather as much historical and other data about the community as possible. This is obtainable through postcards, booklets, etc. Facts during the fall and winter months when summer is a memory or plans for the next season are being formulated.

When I Forgot

One day when I was walking with a girl friend she gave me her ice cream cone to hold for her. I forgot myself and ate the ice cream cone. When she came out she asked me for it. You can imagine my embarrassment when I told her what had happened.

BRACELETS POPULAR

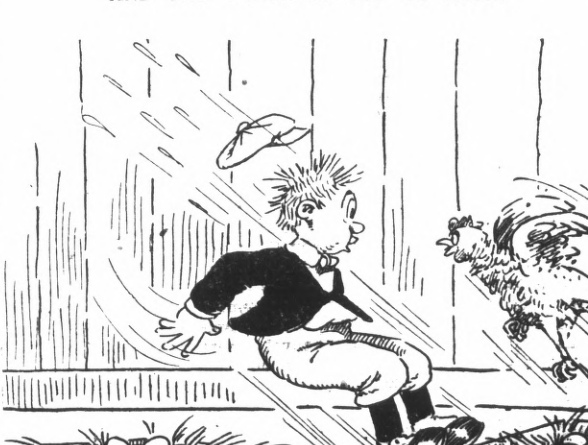

Bracelets of cheaper type this season are so attractive that almost every one is including gold-dipped types among their accessories.

A pair of wide gold-dipped hand bracelets with buckle clasps costs but from $3 to $5, and these are most attractive when worn over the sleeve of the sports dress.

Men Who Made the World

WHILE THE SPANIARDS WERE EXPERIENCING THESE TROUBLES THE ENGLISH WERE LITTLE BETTER OFF. SEVERAL TIMES THEY PUT TO SEA TO CATCH THE SPANIARDS IN THEIR OWN PORT ONLY TO BE DRIVEN BACK BY THE FIERCE GALES. PROVISIONS RAN SHORT, SICKNESS BROKE OUT. SO SOME WEEKS ROLLED AWAY. FINALLY, HOWEVER, ON THE 17TH OF JULY 1588, THE ASTOUNDING NEWS CAME THAT THE SPANISH ARMADA WAS ALMOST IN SIGHT OF ENGLAND. AND THE NEWS WAS MOSTLY TRUE FOR THE SAME WIND THAT HAD BLOWN THE ENGLISH BACK TO PORT HAD BLOWN THE ARMADA ON. THE SURPRISE WAS COMPLETE, AND THE TRAP THAT DRAKE HAD PLANNED TO SPRING ON THE SPANIARDS WAS NOW SPRUNG ON THE ENGLISH. WHEN THE NEWS CAME DRAKE WAS PLAYING AT BOWLS WITH SEVERAL OFFICERS. THEY TURNED TO DRAKE FOR A COMMAND. CALMLY HE REMARKED, "THERE IS TIME TO FINISH THIS GAME AND BEAT THE SPANIARDS AFTERWARDS."

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE

THE MOMENT FOR DECISIVE ACTION HAD NOW COME. THE SPANISH ANCHORED WITHIN STRIKING DISTANCE OF PLYMOUTH, ONLY FOUR LEAGUES OFF SHORE. ONE OF THEIR OFFICERS AFTERWARDS WROTE, "ALL OUR PEOPLE NOW KNELT DOWN AND PRAYED, BESEECHING OUR LORD TO GIVE US VICTORY." THE SPANIARDS EXPECTED THAT AFTER DISPOSING OF THE DIVIDED ENGLISH FLEET, TO SEND SHIPS UP THE THAMES TO LONDON WHICH THEY BELIEVED WOULD FALL IN SINGLE BATTLE. THEY WERE STRANGELY IGNORANT OF THE OPERATIONS OF THE ENGLISH FEAT OF DARING SEAMANSHIP UNPARALLELED IN THE TIME, WARPED FIFTY-FOUR OF THEIR SHIPS OUT OF THE HARBOR AT NIGHT IN FACE OF A FIERCE GALE, AND THROUGH MIST AND DRIZZLING RAIN COULD NOW DIMLY SEE THE GREAT ARMADA.

A class of seven candidates was received into the organization. Mrs. Rose Black presided at the meeting.

Refreshments were served under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. Susie May Field.

Scientific Fire Fighters Balk

(By Universal Service)

DANVILLE, Ill., July 6.—Scientific fire fighters did not do much good here today. Only twelve hours after they had returned from the University of Illinois, where they had gone to take lessons in the real way to fight fires, a platoon of number 5 fire company was called out on a run. The engine refused to move, however, so another company was called two miles away. The fire was extinguished before the scientific fighters arrived at the scene, with but little damage.

GOLD DIGGING THEME SHOWN AT RICHMOND

A very fine picture, "Woman Power," Fox Films latest release to the Richmond Theater had its first showing yesterday. Splendidly cast and directed the story seeks and succeeds in showing woman's emancipation as old influence overthrown. Cast in the leading roles are Ralph Graves, symbolizing man, on whom the burden of evil power of woman is made to bear, and Kathryn Perry who symbolizes the feminine good. Margaret Livingston is the evil influence, while Lou Livingston, William Walling, Ralph Graves, David Barker, Frank Gravetta and Anders Randolf are other members of the cast in important roles.

Other film features on the same program include "Time Flies," a comedy screen; and the latest Fox News.

Coming Friday and Saturday, Jack Holt in "The Mysterious Rider."

CANTOR SHOWS AS MAILMAN AT THE CALIFORNIA

Eddie Cantor, in "Special Delivery," his second comedy role for the Paramount-Bonjour, which opened yesterday at the California Theatre, has brought to the screen a wholly new style of comedy that, while picked to the hilt with exacting timing, is a most pleasing surprise.

As a rookie postman in "Special Delivery," Cantor is at times an utterly pathetic figure and at others, so unapologetically funny, one's utmost capacity for laughter is taxed to the ultimate limit. You can't help laughing at the utterly ludicrous situations into which Cantor's postman gets himself. And yet through it all he is so human.

There is one thing about Cantor's work that is always apparent. He never burlesques the character he is portraying. Instead he approaches it with a sympathetic understanding and then proceeds to make you laugh with him at the hilariously funny situations into which he blunders. This was strongly evident in "Kid Boots," the screen version of Cantor's famous Broadway success. It is still more evident in "Special Delivery."

Cantor's comedy is always well adjusted, his situations are reasonable and the natural development of the incidents which bring them about. In "Special Delivery" as in "Kid Boots" there is a carefully worked out story with a steady under current of dramatic action. The comedy is carried virtually by Cantor alone, the other members of the cast working practically straight.

Supporting Cantor in "Special Delivery" are Johnny Ralston, fresh from her three years of work as leading woman for Harold Lloyd; William Powell, last seen in "Love's Greatest Mistake"; Jack Donaghy, Donald Keith, Victor Polk, Paul Kelley and Mary Carr. William Goodrich directed. Other features include "A Briny Booby," a Billy Doolittle comedy; "Movie Medley," "International News," and Larry Cardo, at the organ.

Roland Roberts, husky All Standard right-hander, is truly the hard luck pitcher of the Standard Oil league. Last night Roberts held the Barrel House tossers to three hits, yet lost to Willis Butler's outfit by a 4 to 3 score.

Roberts has a brilliant ball all season for the cellar, but old Lady Luck seems to be elsewhere whenever he takes his position on the mound. Yesterday was no exception, the Barrel House hanging up a cheap victory on three hits.

Tight Pitching Duel
The contest was an interesting pitching duel between Roberts and Paris Buttisbach, the serious little lefthander who throws baseballs for the Barrel House. Paris conducted himself on the hilltop in a capable fashion, striking out eight All Standards and pitching bang-up ball in the pinches.

The All Standards rallied in the closing stages and might have tied the score had not Charley Freine suffered an apparent lapse of memory, standing flatfooted on third base when he could easily have walked home with the tying run. Freine didn't walk home, however, and the Barrel House annexed the contest.

Barrel House Scores
The Barrel House tossers scored four times in the second inning and then were through run getting for the day. Ernie Peters opened the inning by drawing a walk. Ray Fitzgerald, a chunky youngster whose only claim to fame thus far has been his relationship to Gene Fitzgerald, his hustling, scrappy brother, then proceeded to take hold of an inside ball and drove it over the right field wall for a home run. It wasn't a very hefty wallop, it is true, but it cleared the fence and counted just as much as would have a drive into the Santa Fe yards.

Jensen followed with a double to right, and scored when Johnny Huzefka threw wild to first on Gillan's attempted sacrifice. Gillan went to third on Buttisbach's sacrifice and scored on an infield out.

The All Standards made their initial score in the third inning when Ray Roberts put all of his 215 pounds into a fast one and drove it far over the right center fence for a home run.

Rally in Seventh
Both Buttisbach and Roberts pitched shut-out ball for the next three innings. In the seventh, however, the All Standards staged a rally that nearly put them on even terms with the Barrel House. Sears, who had fanned on two previous trips to the plate, started things with a two-base hit. Roberts followed with another double, sending Sears across the platter. Murphy, batting for Donnelly, went out infield, with Roberts sealing third in the meantime. Carson also went out infield, Gillan to Fitzgerald, but Charley Freine came through with a long drive up against the left field fence. Billy Yore made a game effort to stab the ball but hit the fence with such force that he was knocked unconscious. The ball bounced off the fence, with Jack Shively in hot pursuit of it. Freine rounded third and might easily have scored before Spike Elder could call time out because of Yore's injury. For some unknown reason Freine scuttled back to third, however, and the All Standards' golden opportunity for a tied score and a possible victory vanished. Armentrout ended the inning by going out, Schimpff to Fitzgerald.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME
As a result of their victory yesterday the Barrel House tossers went into a tie with the Refinery for first place. The latter have a chance of breaking the tie today when they hook up with the Mechanics. If Chick Atty's encounter, however, they will drop down into second place, a half game behind the Barrel House.

When Billy Yore crashed into the fence in the eventful seventh inning the impact was so great that it could be plainly heard in the stands. The former St. Mary's college star was backing up in an attempt to grab Charley Freine's drive when he hit the fence. He was out for a few minutes but was able to leave the park without any assistance.

Yore, by the way, seems to have slipped considerably since his last appearance in the twilight league. Yore was a bright star at college and looked good here last season, but has failed to impress

Cripple, Eh? Well I'll Surprise You---Dempsey

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., July 5. Feeling a bit fine after five days of strenuous labor, Jack Dempsey rested yesterday, if one could call a ten-mile hike and an hour's rowing on the lake and some playful tossing about of several tons of rocks which submerged some of Tom Luther's forest during the morning hours resting.

In the afternoon Jack wandered down to White Sulphur Springs Hotel, where he regaled the rock-throwing brigade of scribes and several hundred folks who had wandered in from the environs with the idea of seeing the ex-champion go through his training antics.

Dempsey's popularity and personal charm were manifested when he shook hands with as many persons as President Coolidge glad-hands on a visiting day. Jack allowed the correspondents to put the pump on him, and did not dodge a question.

A little later, after the disappointed visitors had driven off, Jack allowed the correspondents to put the pump on him, and did not dodge a question.

He said that he was in perfect health and was willing to undergo an examination by any disinterested doctor.

He smilingly asserted that the propaganda which paints him a cripple and unhealthy is great for him, especially if Jack Sharkey believes all these tales.

Examined Three Months Ago
Dempsey claims that he was passed by an insurance doctor three months ago and given a policy for $20,000. He expects two physicians to look him over within the next few days.

Dr. William G. Fraick will overhaul Jack at the request of Tex Rickard.

Jack explained why his sparring partners hit him with ease and his apparent slowness. He allows his mates to slap him because they do not hurt him and he is trying not so much to develop a defense against Sharkey as to get the old marksmanship and strength behind his punch.

His opinion of his sparring mates, aside from Allentown Joe Gans and Martin Burke, is not laudatory.

Expects Shade to Help Him
Jack expects Dave Shade to help him more than any man in camp. Dempsey has been unable to swing into his old bobbing and weaving style, and says that the one day which Shade boxed with him at Ojai aided him to get the knack of swinging his body as of yore.

Shade butted in and said that since he joined the Barrel House club several weeks ago. His work in the outfield yesterday was anything but brilliant. In the fifth inning he made a palpable miff of Carson's long fly to left, making up for it in the seventh inning, however, when he nearly broke his neck in a game effort to spear Freine's triple.

Larry Gillan, youthful sandlot infielder, filled in at short yesterday for the Barrel House when Butler decided to give himself a rest. Ernie Peters was shifted over to third to cover Butler's position, while Gillan took care of the short patch. The youngster looked good on his new infield chance.

Peters, incidentally, is reported to be due for a trial with the St. Louis Cards next spring along with Gene Wright, firemen pitcher and former Barrel House cawter. Peters tried out with the San Francisco Seals last year, while Wright has had trials with the Oaks and the Kansas City Blues.

$7500 Paid For Former Pullmanite

Joe Mellano, second baseman with Paul Huston's city championship Pullman nine two years ago, was yesterday sold by the Wilson club of the Virginia league to the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league for $7500.

Mellano, an Oakland boy, has been with the Wilson team for the past two seasons following a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals at Stockton in 1925. He has been holding down the third sack for the Virginia league outfit, where his sensational work this spring attracted the attention of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, with the result that his purchase followed.

Mellano played last winter with the Broadway Department Store line of Oakland the team that produced such stars as Eddie Rose and Lefty Reckless of the Missions of the Pacific Coast league. Mellano bats from either side of the plate and throws right handed.

He will report to the Athletics at the close of the Virginia league season.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

Nicholas Murray Butler's Boy Friend

LARRYPUP LOU GEHRIG is right up to the squat Babe Ruth in hot run mileage.

Not since Eddie Collins sneaked away from the campus of Columbia University and took a local to Philly, there to play for Connie Mack under the disguise of "Sullivan," has a player from that college distinguished himself so notably as Gehrig. The manifold successes of Collins never received intimate recognition from New Yorkers because his second-basing has always been dedicated to Philadelphia, Chicago and then again Philadelphia.

Gehrig, however, has stuck right in New York. He pitched and played first for Columbia University and his big league activities have been centered in the Yankees of Colonel Ruppert. He did play at Hartford, Conn. for a time, but the Yankees always had strings attached.

Larrypup Lou is a typical home boy. After a game you will find him with his German police dog in some park or you may find him home with his mother and father, lounging around the living room. I don't believe he has even been to a night club. His tastes are those of a youngster of the nineteenth century, rather than the bustling, noisy twentieth century.

His vitality is responsible for his baseball success. He is tremendously strong. His forearms are so powerful that if he even hits the ball a glancing blow it caroms to the outfield from the impulse. Opposing pitchers have become so scared of this dynamite that they regularly chant to Huggins: "You can bring Babe and Tony, too, but for Gawd's sake, Hug, don't bring Lou, Lou." Huggins, however, never had an ear for music.

Why Not Give Lou a Big Hand?

It seems more than passing strange that New York city, which breeds quite a goodly sum to those welcome parties to Peruvia ambassadors, leading black bottom hoofers, golfers, tennis players and horse marines, has neglected Lou Gehrig so long.

Welcome parties, like charity, should start at home, but so far as I can ascertain, Larrypup Lou has never been called down to the office of Mayor Jimmy Walker to pass the time of day and receive the key to the city.

Mayor Walker is not the only one who has been remiss in this presented obligation.

Judge Oberwager, who planned the reception for Gertrude Ederle and who also went out of his way to arrange a greeting for Franz Dener, German heavyweight, in the name of the German residents of New York city, has apparently overlooked Gehrig
